Assignment 1 (Pre-Assignment - Covered in Lesson 1)

What Domain Modelling means to me?

It's somewhat like drawing/designing the mind map of the product the business intends to build.

It's a process of figuring out, drawing and understanding the dynamics of interactions between the small-big parts of the product, then connecting them all together to get the whole picture of the complete interplay of all the parts, their interdependency, and all the complex things the business wants the product to reflect according to their needs.
